Thank you! I definitely appreciate your help getting us this far. I just need to be mindful of staying in line with the commission's approvals.

Hi Becky,

Since there is no budget for us to handle the Charlie Berens work at this time, I'll send Brent over to work with you directly.

Thanks!

I'm not sure. As you know, none of this has approval yet. This was just supposed to be us looking into options to present to the commission for approval. If you are working outside of budget – we do not have authority to approve that. If it's easier for me to take over contact so you are not having to track hours, I can do that. I just cannot authorize working hours outside of a budget that the commission has approved.

Good morning Becky,

I sent over some materials to Brent to share with Charlie.

He let me know he'll have a proposal ASAP sent over.

Also, I wanted to check in to see how you'd like us to track our time on this project?

And, would you prefer the proposal come through us?

Here are some materials and media kit he sent us:

Hi Becky,

We finally heard back from Charlie Beren's agent and unfortunately he seems to be quite out of budget.

"His rate would be between $50k-100k to do something like this.

On average, for a :30-60 second asset, he pushes across all his channels promoting a brand, entity, or opportunity (Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, and X) - post as a collab with the entity on FB and IG, with 2-3 frames of story support, the rates have gotten as high as $100,000 for one fully produced concept he comes up with.

On average for smaller opportunities and entities, we do consider lower rates, sometimes in the range of $50,000.

This includes ideation, coming up with the concept, Charlie producing the asset, editing it, and delivering it to his social channels. "

Let me know how you'd like to proceed.

Thanks,
