Thank you,

Here's hoping she can find the support and sobriety in prison that has eluded her so far.

You all likely remember the problems we've had with Nicole Stapleton and her boyfriend – they tended to spend a great deal of time around the library and were responsible for a lot of filth and general chaos.

Ms. Stapleton was sentenced in criminal court last week to 1.5 years in prison. Barring an early release from prison (I'll try to track that), we should have some quiet on that front for a little while.

Have a good day,
